BUSINESS FOR GOOD

▶ ENTER THE ERA OF PURPOSE

Time to walk the talk!

The United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals are the new reference shaping the global agenda, and it seems the role of business today is not just to participate in delivering the Goals, but to lead the way as changemakers.

More than ever, in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic, now's the time to turn words into action and build a regenerative and inclusive economy that works for all. Now's the time for collaboration and impact!

By shifting the culture of business, we can solve the world's biggest environmental and social challenges.

BUSINESS FOR GOOD

Discover the first instalment

On 18 June 2020, we launched the series with two webinars to set the agenda of the global Business for Good movement.

Setting the scene

A keynote speech by Janet Pau (The Economist Corporate Network), followed by a panel session with speakers including Bonnie Tse (AIA Hong Kong and Macau) and more!

Leading the change: B-Corporations

Experience sharing from B-Corporations including insights from Stanislas Bocquet (PALO IT) – Hong Kong's first tech B-Corp, and many more.

Our series continues in 2020-2021

After the success of our first two webinars, discover our 2020-2021 calendar!

Business for Good kicked-off with two insightful webinars in June 2020.

The series now continues in 2020-2021 with 3 dedicated events and workshops across 2020-2021 on these main topics:

- November 2020: The future of sustainable finance
- January 2021: Responsible consumption and production
- May 2021: Smart City and construction

Together with our partners and speakers, we aspire to exchange pioneering ideas around aligning business with purpose.
